

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE MIDDLE DISTRICT OF GEORGIA
MACON DIVISION

ROBERT L. MERIWETHER,

Plaintiff,

V.

JESSICA BATTLE,

Defendant.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 5:19-CV-285 (MTT)

ORDER

United States Magistrate Judge Charles H. Weigle recommends granting Defendant Jessica Battle's motion for summary judgment. Doc. 39. Plaintiff Robert Meriwether has objected, so pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1), the Court has thoroughly considered Meriwether's objections and made a de novo determination of the portions of the Recommendation to which he objects. Meriwether makes three arguments why the Recommendation should not be adopted by the Court. Doc. 40.

First, Meriwether argues that he did not consent to the Magistrate Judge ruling on any proceedings and “therefore any order made by the Magistrate Judge should be dismissed and not accepted.” Id. at 1. However, Meriwether’s consent was not required for the Magistrate Judge to issue a Recommendation. 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1) states that a magistrate judge may be designated to submit “recommendations for the disposition” of motions for summary judgment. 28 U.S.C. 636(b)(1)(A)-(B). Moreover, Local Rule 72 states that magistrate judges in this district are authorized to conduct proceedings in prisoner § 1983 cases and to submit Recommendations on dispositive pretrial matters. M.D. Ga. L.R. 72. Accordingly, Meriwether's consent was not needed for the Magistrate Judge to submit a Recommendation on Battle's motion for summary judgment.

Second, Meriwether argues that there are genuine issues of material fact, and thus summary judgment is inappropriate. Doc. 40 at 1-2. However, Meriwether appears to be merely disagreeing with the Magistrate Judge's conclusion drawn from facts that are not in dispute. For example, Meriwether argues that summary judgment should be denied because Battle did not refer him to a specialist from February 2016 to August 2016, despite his medical condition not improving. Doc. 40 at 2. This is not disputed, and the Magistrate Judge thoroughly addressed why this fact, viewed in the light most favorable to Meriwether, does not preclude Battle's motion for summary judgment. Doc. 39 at 5-6.

Finally, Meriwether argues that the Recommendation should not be accepted because in extreme cases, courts have acknowledged that "bad judgment by medical personnel can constitute deliberate indifference." Doc. 40 at 3 (citing Adams v. Poag, 61 F.3d 1537, 1543-44 (11th Cir. 1995); Greeno v. Daley, 414 F.3d 645, 655 (11th Cir. 2005)). Meriwether is correct; the Eleventh Circuit has held that when a prisoner receives medical treatment only extreme cases of incompetence may result in deliberate indifference. Hoffer v. Sec'y, Fla. Dep't of Corrs., 973 F.3d 1263, 1270 (11th Cir. 2020) ("With respect to prisoners' medical care, in particular, we have held that the Eighth Amendment doesn't require it to be perfect, the best obtainable, or even very good. Rather, we have emphasized, medical treatment violates the Eighth Amendment only when it is so grossly incompetent, inadequate, or excessive as to shock the conscience or to be intolerable to fundamental fairness.”) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted). Here, Meriwether cannot establish that Battle’s treatment was so incompetent or was so inadequate that it “shocks the conscience” or that it is “intolerable to fundamental fairness.” Id.

In conclusion, the Court has reviewed the Recommendation, and the Court accepts and adopts the findings, conclusions, and recommendations of the Magistrate Judge. The Recommendation (Doc. 39) is ADOPTED and made the order of the Court. Accordingly, Battle’s motion for summary judgment (Doc. 30) is GRANTED.

SO ORDERED, this 3rd day of June, 2021.
